ATHOL, Idaho (AP)—A crack Northern Pacific passenger train, highballing through a remote and frozen stretch of north Idaho, derailed in front of a 200-foot-high trestle late Friday night, spilling the engine into a deep lake and scattering passenger cars all over.

Four crew members — the engineer, fireman, brakeman and conductor — were feared dead. At least 20 persons were injured. There also were unconfirmed reports that two passengers were killed. The three-unit diesel engine plunged 200 feet into Granite Lake, leaving only a hole in the ice to mark its entry.

Several passenger cars were knocked on their sides halfway down the steep hill leading to the lake. Others were still standing beside the tracks.

The ill-fated train was the west-bound North Coast Limited, en route from Chicago to Spokane, Wash., 40 miles southwest of here. One witness said the jumbled train cars "looked like a bunch of jackstraws."

It was several hours before rescuers, scrambling down the steep, snow-slicked bank, could remove some of the injured passengers. The injured were rushed to hospitals at nearby Sandpoint and Coeur d'Alene over roads made treacherous by compact snow and ice.

Elizabeth Felling, Wayzata, Minn., and Joanne Schneider, Windon, Minn., were in the car sixth from the engine when the disaster occurred.

"Seats ripped loose and people seemed to fly through the air every which way," they said. "There was screaming everywhere."

F. R. Clark, Veradale, Wash., was in the dome car, which remained upright. "When the engine hit the brakes, I knew what had happened," he said. "Several people in our car were hurt, including a woman and her child."

The grade school in this town of 231 persons was pressed into service to care for passengers from the train who were unhurt or only slightly injured.

The stewardess nurse, Gladys Stewart, St. Paul, said she treated at least 16 persons in the smashed cars. Some of them had broken bones, she said.

Other Print Contracts Ruled Void

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Ralph Van Meter, owner of the White County Printing Co. of Judsonia, has said he will resign from a state board so his company can hold state printing contracts.

Atty. Gen. Frank Holt ruled Thursday that three state printing contracts held by Van Meter's company are void under a state Supreme Court's decision.

The court ruled Monday that Parkin Printing Co. of Little Rock could not hold state contracts because its president, Harry W. Parkin, was a member of the Highway Commission.

Van Meter is a member of the board of the state Negro Boys Industrial School. He said he would resign from the board and again bid on the contracts, which are valued at $7,400 a year.

Van Meter asked the attorney general for an opinion after the court ruling on the Parkin case.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus said Thursday he expected several members of state boards and commissions to resign to avoid a conflict between business interests and state positions. Parkin has not said whether he will resign from the Highway Commission.

State Auditor Jimmie Jones said he would ask Secretary of State Nancy Hall to advertise for new bids on the contracts which were awarded to Van Meter's company. She already has asked for new bids on the contracts held by Parkin. They are to be opened March 30.

Parkin held almost $1 million worth of contracts.

DOWN TO THE SEA IN HELICOPTERS—The U.S. Coast Guard has selected the HO4S helicopter as its new search and rescue aircraft. The boat-hulled, turbine-powered vehicle, built by Sikorsky, is the world's first amphibious helicopter. In photograph above, a crew chief stands on a platform which extends out over the water to snag a life raft with his hook and pull the survivor in. With the helicopter able to land on the water, the rescue is five times as fast as old method of hauling survivor into the air by a hoist.

Declares Japs Never Will Go Communist

CROSSETT, Ark. (AP) — Red China will continue to gain power, but it will never entice Japan into the communist fold, a Japanese television political spokesman said here Thursday.

Eichi Matsui of the Japanese Broadcasting Corp., is in the United States under the State Department's foreign leader exchange program. He spoke to the Crossett Rotary Club, giving his impressions of Red China, which he visited recently, and of his own country's stand against communism.

At a news conference, he said Japan never would fall under communist domination because "it is simply not the kind of country that lends itself to communism."

There is strong pro-American sentiment in Japan, Matsui said, and demonstrations such as the ones against Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy and former Vice President Richard Nixon are staged by a very small minority.

Japan is in a "very narrow valley" between the free world and communism," he said. But it has a rapidly growing economy and must continue as a member of the free world and help strive for world peace.

Of Red China, Matsui said it probably will continue under totalitarianism for many years, and that in 20 years "it could really grow as a major country."

Matsui said that before he came to this country a month ago, he felt that the U.S. had reached its economic peak. Now, he said, he is convinced it still is growing.

Crossett is the smallest town Matsui will visit during his two-month stay in this country. He complimented the city on its forestry program.

Small Drop in Dept. Store Sales

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis reported Thursday that department store sales in the Eighth Federal Reserve District for the week ending Feb. 24 declined one per cent in comparison with the similar week last year.

Louisville registered a whopping 23 per cent gain for the week, Memphis was up four per cent and combined figures on smaller reporting cities showed a nine per cent increase. St. Louis was down seven per cent and Little Rock two per cent.

For the latest four-week period there was a district increase of eight per cent with only Little Rock, which fell three per cent, showing a decline. Louisville rose 12 per cent, Memphis 10 per cent, St. Louis eight per cent and the smaller cities 10 per cent.

For the year to date district sales are up three per cent.

GOPs to Draft Party Principles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional Republicans named Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., today as chairman of a Senate-House committee to draft a statement of party principles.

Laird told a news conference the 12-member group hopes to have a statement ready to present to the Senate and House Republicans by June 1 and to lay before a GOP National Committee meeting in Seattle, Wash., June 11.

Piece of Booster Rocket Found

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A scored rocket fragment found on a South African farm has been identified as a piece of Atlas booster 105D which hurled astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. into orbit.

The 3-foot by 2-foot sheet of metal was flown here Thursday and markings stamped on the surface definitely labbed it as part of the fuel tank on Glenn's rocket. Identification was made by General Dynamics-Astronautics, maker of the Atlas.

Cities Join to Promote Industry

By J. C. Tillman
Associated Press Staff Writer

It was headlined "Better than one then three cities ought to be better than one—at least in attracting industry and promoting development of area resources."

That's the philosophy of the South Arkansas Development Council, a closely knit organization operated from three South Arkansas cities.

The SADC was started four years ago on the premise that if any industry came along that any of the three cities involved—Camden, Magnolia and El Dorado—couldn't handle, all three could.

It was also based on the knowledge that the pending development of the Ouachita River Basin would open new opportunities for the attraction of industry.

Activities of the group range from an annual bus tour by businessmen to eight or nine southern cities to promote the area, to a $100 a plate reception in Washington at the U.S. Chamber of Commerce convention; from pooling costs of stationery to working with an engineering firm to assure that a large ordinance works it purchased is suitable for housing any new industry it might help attract.

The organization started as a cooperative idea of the Chambers of Commerce of the three cities.

It now has as members the president of the Chamber of Commerce of each city, the industrial chairman of each of the three chambers, the city manager or mayor of each city, H. K. Thatcher, executive secretary of the Ouachita River Valley Association, and Southern State College and business representatives.

Two of the most tangible efforts of the group to date are its work, to see that the vast Shumaker Ordnance plant was sold intact to a firm interested in developing it to be attractive to industry, and its work with the river valley association.

Brown Engineering Co. has taken over the ordnance plant and is currently developing it into an industrial park capable of accommodating heavy industry.

Last year, 507,000 tons of freight moved on the Ouachita River, which channels from the SADC.

Ouachita to Crest at 34.1 Feet

CAMDEN, Ark. (AP) — The Ouachita River is expected to crest slightly above 34.1 feet late today before receding late tonight, the U.S. Weather Bureau said.

Flood stage here is 26 feet. In recent years, the river has risen to as high as 43.8 feet and the record, 46 feet, was set May 12, 1952.

Flood waters covered several thousand acres of crop and pasture land.

Red Ban of U. S. Officer Is Ignored

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
BERLIN (AP)—The U.S. command brushed off Communist orders today banning the U.S. commandant, Maj. Gen. Albert Watson II, from Red-ruled East Berlin.

A U.S. spokesman said the American commandant has no intention of entering the Soviet sector unless his civilian aides can go with him without being forced to show identification cards.

The East Germans announced they were shutting the gate on Gen. Watson at the request of the Soviets. This was confirmed by U.S. authorities in a telephone call to Soviet headquarters in Karlshorst, suburban East Berlin.

The move was in retaliation for the American boycott against Cok Andrei I. Solovyev, the Soviet commandant. He was barred from the U.S. sector two months ago after East German guards stopped Gen. Watson and demanded two aides with him show identification papers.

The United States does not recognize the East German regime and contends that the Soviets are responsible for regulating traffic to and from East Berlin.

This was underscored by an American spokesman's statement, "The problem with regard to the movement of the two commandants to each other's sectors continues to remain a matter for resolution between the two commandants."

A U.S. Army staff car was held up for 40 minutes by East German border police this morning, but then was waved on. Western officials did not link the incident with the ban on Gen. Watson.

They suggested it might have been prompted by U.S. guards delaying a Soviet car Thursday.

A car carrying Soviet personnel to the Berlin Air Safety Center, operated by the four occupying powers in West Berlin passed through "Checkpoint Charlie" without a hitch this morning.

There was no explanation why the Soviets waited so long before reacting to the American travel ban on Col. Solovyev.

Argument to Open Arms Talk Revived

LONDON (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev renewed today his argument for opening the 18-nation Geneva disarmament conference on the summit level—this time in a note to Italian Premier Amintore Fanfani.

In a note broadcast by Moscow radio, Khrushchev rejected Fanfani's suggestion that a summit meeting on disarmament be postponed until a critical or final stage.

"It is difficult for us to agree that such an approach promises anything good," Khrushchev said, adding it was more expedient in his view "or the most responsible leaders of the states to take part in the negotiations when they are beginning, so as to give them a start in the right direction."

Khrushchev made similar arguments in notes Thursday to French President Charles de Gaulle, Canadian Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker and Swedish Premier Tage Erlander. He rejected De Gaulle's suggestion of a summit meeting restricted to nuclear powers.

Kennedy Tells World U.S. to Continue Tests

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP) — Faced with the grim danger of decisive Soviet gains in the atomic arms race, the United States will begin nuclear air tests in the Pacific late next month unless Moscow agrees quickly to a ceasefire on test-ban treaty.

President Kennedy announced this decision in a broadcast to the world Friday night. He coupled it with an urgent bid to Soviet leaders to return quickly to the negotiating table and join in working out a "fully effective treaty" to make tests unnecessary.

"It is our hope and prayer," Kennedy declared, "that these grim, unwelcome tests will never have to be made — that these deadly weapons will never have to be fired—that our preparations for war will bring us the preservation of peace."

But he said bluntly that the next move was up to the Kremlin. "In the last analysis, it is the leaders of the Soviet Union who must bear the heavy responsibility of choosing in the weeks that lie ahead whether we proceed with these steps (for arms control)—or proceed with new tests," Kennedy said.

His reluctant but long-considered decision was made, Kennedy said, because of gains in nuclear weapons power made by the Soviet Union through a series of more than 40 tests fired last fall after months of secret preparation. The Russians did not gain superiority in nuclear power through those tests, Kennedy said, but they achieve progress in weapons development could lead to important breakthroughs in some later test series.

"I must report to you in all candor," the President declared, "that further Soviet series, in the absence of further Western progress, could well provide the Soviet Union with a nuclear attack and defense capability so powerful as to encourage aggressive designs."

Unless the arms race can be stopped with a test-ban treaty policed by an international inspection system, Kennedy asserted, the United States must advance its own weapons development in order to preserve "the free world's ability to deter, to survive, and to respond to an all-out attack."

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said in a dispatch from Washington reporting the announcement that Kennedy knew "full well that the Soviet Union rejects the system of inspection proposed by the U.S.A. and Britain as completely unacceptable."

In other reaction, the British government extended its full support to Kennedy's proposal. Japan urged the President to reconsider and Congress lined up solidly behind him.

Kennedy's announcement came within two weeks of the scheduled opening in Geneva March 14 of an 18-nation disarmament conference including Soviet-bloc countries, the Western powers and nonaligned nations.

Kennedy proposed that eve he fore the big conference starts, East-West negotiators should resume discussions of a test-ban treaty. He said that he and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan would be ready to meet Soviet Premier Khrushchev at Geneva "to sign the final pact" if agreement could be reached. An accord on this issue "would be a monumental step toward peace," Kennedy said.

Pilot Escapes to Cambodia

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Cambodia gave political asylum today to a South Vietnamese fighter pilot who flew to safety here after attacking President Ngo Dinh Diem's palace in Saigon.

Cambodia's chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, called the attack on Diem "God's punishment" and denied the South Vietnamese government's extradition request for the pilot, Nouven Van Cu, 25.

The Cambodian action seemed certain to further irritate relations already severely strained by repeated border incidents growing out of South Vietnamese war against Communist guerrillas.

Diem's government has accused Sihanouk of allowing the rebel Viet Cong to operate from Cambodian territory. Neutralist Cambodia has rejected these charges and in turn accused South Vietnamese troops and planes of frequently violating Cambodian territory.

Hope's First State Legion Auxiliary President Gives Report on National Meet

By MARY ANITA LASETER
Star Feature Writer

Hope was the home of Arkansas' American Legion Auxiliary President for the first time last year, when Mrs. E. F. Formby capably filled that office. As is customary, Mrs. Formby was named to the post of National Executive Committee Woman after her tenure as state president. She was also made Department (state) National Security Chairman.

Of course, she attended the national convention in Washington, D. C., in February. Since the national auxiliary president had appointed her to membership on the Constitution By-laws Committee, she attended that special committee meeting.

She felt a tug at her heartstrings when she visited the graves of the Unknown at Arlington National Cemetery. Formerly, there was only one grave and it was of the Unknown Soldier. She viewed many points of historical interest in our capital city, toured the White House in person before the nation did by means of TV, and was entertained with other delegates at various social functions.

One of these was a tea at the Columbian Embassy. There, any kind of drink you wanted was served to you, from cocktails to soft drinks. With a twinkle in her eye the Arkansas delegate from Hope asked for buttermilk, explaining that was a favorite kind of refreshment back in Arkansas. That brought smiles but no buttermilk. However, it is certain that the American Legion Auxiliary will not soon forget its committee woman from Arkansas.

Sixteen patriotic organizations were represented at the Doman's Forum on National Security, where the Gold Star Mothers were chairmen. The theme was taken from an address by Abraham Lincoln, "It is for us, the living, to be here dedicated."

During one of the four sessions held by the Doman's Forum the question, "Who Is We?" was forcefully answered by Dr. Kenneth Wells, President of Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, who called the Forum Women "Rally Girls," who rally around and work that this nation might continue under God. "Turning from God is not Communism, but it is cultivating the ground for the seed," he explained and then warned "America is AWOL from patriotism, the moral and spiritual fabric of our country is deteriorating."

At the time of the meeting, America was waiting expectantly for the launching of Lt. Col. John Glenn into orbit. So, a very timely speaker at another session of the forum was Hiram Haggatt of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. He said that the Space Age is just a modern version of Columbus and Magellan in a new game, "Moon-opoly." "Why, the race in space?" he asked. "In this new field, we have found a better cure for tuberculosis and mental illness. The weather satellite that warned Texas of the hurricane saved more than the cost of the satellite. Miniature radio, voice machine, new ceramics are all products of the Space Age."

Haggatt concluded his remarks with these thought-provoking words "Space Age is most important, but we should be more concerned over the American boy who feels no thrill at the passing of our flag, or the boy who has no concept of God, than whether we hit the moon."

L. R. Trade Mart Being Planned

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A Little Rock realtor said Thursday planning is under way for a trade mart in the capital city.

The realtor, W. F. Rector, said the mart, to be similar to those in New York, Chicago, Kansas City and Dallas, would provide space for manufacturers and suppliers to display their products.

Rector said the mart would be established in a remodeled downtown building and would have 50,000 square feet of display space.

Phone Firm Asks to Float Loan

TEXARKANA (AP) — General Telephone Co., of the Southwest asked the Arkansas Public Service Commission Thursday for authority to sell $7.5 million worth of bonds and $4 million worth of common stock.

The company said the money would be used to refinance existing short term loans.

General, headquartered in Texas, serves some two dozen Arkansas communities.

FCC at Odds With Policy of Kennedy

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission has split with President Kennedy over ownership of an American communications satellite corporation.

The FCC Wednesday came out in favor of limiting ownership of the corporation to communications companies.

Kennedy, in legislation submitted to Congress, would have the corporations sell its stock—up to $1-billion worth—not only to communications companies but also to other types of companies and the general public.

The FCC's position was set forth by Chairman Newton N. Minnow at a hearing of the Senate Space Committee. He said the Budget Bureau had cleared the commission's statement even though the FCC was not in accord with the President's program.

While disagreeing with the administration's position on ownership of the corporation, the FCC agreed it should be a private enterprise.

Minnow said the FCC members strongly favor the approach taken in a bill introduced by Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., the space committee chairman, limiting ownership of the proposed corporation to authorized common carriers.

He said while concern had been expressed that this might give rise to domination of the corporation by a single carrier and other abuses, the FCC believed safeguards already in the legislation and others it recommended would prevent this.

Minnow said one effect of limiting ownership to communications companies would be to make possible lower charges for use of the satellite system.

Temperature Moderates Over Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Temperatures moderated across the north central region today, after nearly a week of below zero weather, breaking a late-winter cold spell.

But unseasonable cold still gripped most of the nation's mid-section and freezing weather extended across the major part of the country. Only areas in the South and Pacific Coast were out of the cold belt.

It was below zero again this morning in northern Midwest sections. But readings for the most part were far higher than Thursday when the mercury dropped to 46 below in Wisconsin.

The coldest air appeared confined to sections of Michigan and Wisconsin. As the cold air moved from the Midlands into the Northeast, temperatures dropped to -23 in Traverse City, Mich., and -22 in Pellston, Mich. They were near -20 in Green Bay and Stevens Point, Wis.

But in Minneapolis, which had a record March low of -32 Thursday, it was only 4 below. In International Falls, Minn., on the Canadian border, the 2 above compared to Thursday morning's 35 below.

Temperatures dropped to a fittingly below zero in sections of upstate New York and New England. Lower readings, however, were indicated tonight as more of the cold air from the Midwest moves into the region.

No heavy precipitation was reported.

See No Hope for Pension Increase

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Rep. Dale Alford, D-Ark., sees little hope for an increase in World War I veterans' pensions this year.

Alford told a meeting of Hot Springs veterans Thursday night that he personally favored an increase.

"As long as we are spending money to aid Communist nations such as Yugoslavia, I will speak out for the veterans of this country," Alford said.

Alford is an announced candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Danger Remote From Fallout Says Kennedy

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy says the fallout hazards that would come from U.S. nuclear testing in the atmosphere are considered remote and infinitesimal.

He promised that "these tests are to be conducted under conditions which restrict the radioactive fallout to an absolute minimum, far less than the contamination created by last fall's Soviet series."

Thus Kennedy tried Friday night to soothe concern over the emotion-charged by-product of atmospheric nuclear tests, fallout. The United States will begin testing late in April if the Soviet Union does not agree to an effective test ban.

Kennedy said the amount of radiation from the tests would be "well within the guides for general population health and safety, as set by the Federal Radiation Council."

"Nevertheless," he added, "I find it deeply regrettable that any radioactive material must be added to the atmosphere—that even one additional individual's health may be risked in the foreseeable future. And however remote and infinitesimal those hazards are judged to be, I still exceedingly regret the necessity of balancing these hazards against the hazards to hundreds of millions of lives which would be created by any relative decline in our nuclear strength."

Kennedy said that "by paying close attention to location, wind and weather conditions, and by holding these tests over open sea, we intend to rule out any problem of fallout in the immediate area of testing."

Also, he added, the increase in radiation in the northern hemisphere, where nearly all such fallout occurs, will be kept to a very low level.

U.S. officials said this was a virtue of testing in the Pacific near the Equator—at Christmas Island, for instance, where the United States may run off some of its series.

Nuclear bursts conducted in the equatorial latitudes distribute their fallout more generally throughout the world. In contrast, the Soviet tests in the polar latitudes tend to concentrate their fallout in the northern hemisphere where 80 per cent of the world's population is located.

Rusk Appeals for Revival of Arms Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk appealed to the Soviet Union today to join the United States in lifting forthcoming disarmament negotiations out of the East-West propaganda conflict. He linked to his appeal the hope that the nuclear powers would be able to bring the arms race under control.

In spite of the stalemate between President John F. Kennedy and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev over the level at which the Geneva conference should open, Rusk said he is sure that the 18-nation disarmament meeting will start on schedule March 14.

At his first news conference here in several weeks, Rusk also told leaders of the Soviet Union and Red China that "there can be peace overnight" in South Vietnam if the Communists will stop supporting guerrilla warfare in that embattled Southeast Asian country.

Rusk said the Reds themselves are wholly to blame for the conflict in which the United States has the sole aim of supporting the independence of South Vietnam. This country is helping the government "to deal with this (Communist) conspiratorial effort to take over the country by violent means," Rusk said.

"We have no combat units in that country and we have no desire for bases or other military advantages," he added.

area in the Red River and eventually the Mississippi. Everything from logs to fish, salt cake to scrap iron, liquid sulphur to fuel oil, anhydrous ammonia to methanol, were barged or floated on the Ouchita.

Appropriations for work on the Ouchita—particularly for a nine-foot channel to provide for large navigation—have been increasing. Though actual dredging of the channel isn't assured planning is underway.

But the principal idea of the SADC is to take advantage of whatever industry may come its way and to do so by cooperation. SADC members realize that industries consider much more than just economic factors when choosing a location.

They are concerned about schools, utilities, recreation, labor force, churches, taxes and a host of things that benefit industrial existence.

The SADC, Shelton says, is becoming equipped to cope with all of these problems—from telephones to taxes, streets to sports. The attraction of industry, according to those engaged in it, is one of the most highly competitive businesses in the world, and only those most willing to sacrifice succeed.

The SADC according to Shelton, has been willing to get its feet wet in this competition.

Industrial Group Forms Alliance

WASHINGTON (AP)—Governors of five states took preliminary steps Thursday night to set up a Mid-American Industrial Development Council.

Formation of the council was recommended by Govs. John M. Dalton of Missouri, Buford Ellington of Tennessee, Frank B. Morrison of Nebraska, Norman A. Erbe of Iowa and John Anderson Jr., of Kansas.

Dalton was named temporary chairman of a committee to explore ways on how to develop the council. He was host to the group at a dinner attended also by former Gov. Homer Adkins of Arkansas and 24 members of Congress.

Besides the five states whose governors attended the dinner the council also would represent Arkansas, Illinois, Kentucky and Oklahoma.

School Burns in Stone County

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Ark. (AP)—Fire destroyed the frame Timbo high school building in Stone County Wednesday just after classes had been dismissed.

The only person in the building when the fire began was the janitor's wife, Mrs. Lloyd Richardson. Richardson, notified of the fire by folk singer Jimmy Driftwood, who lives nearby, left his wife out of the building.

County School Supervisor Arliss Parris said school would be dismissed today and Friday while arrangements for temporary classroom facilities are made.

School officials estimated damage at $75,000. The building housed a gymnasium, lunchroom and classrooms for about 200 students of grades seven through 12. Other buildings on the campus were not damaged. Timbo is 13 miles west of Mountain view.

State Welcomes Missouri County

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—If McDonald County wants to secede from Missouri, it's welcome in Arkansas, Gov. Orval E. Faubus said in a tongue-in-cheek proclamation Thursday.

Faubus' proclamation resulted from an argument between residents of Missouri County and the Missouri Highway Department.

The people are upset because their county's recreational areas were not shown on state highway maps. They said they were so upset that they wished to secede and become part of Arkansas.

The residents of the county aren't serious about seceding, and Faubus said he signed the proclamation "to give the Ozarks a little publicity."

Glenn, U. S. Spaceman, to Visit U. N.

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Heir welcome behind him, Glenn, Jr. won the excited cheers of this international community on a visit to the United Nations today.

With New York City's wildest hero welcome behind him, Glenn, Jr. arrived ahead of schedule. He gave a grin and a thumbs-up salute to more than 1,000 U.N. secretariat workers from scores of countries who jammed the lobby of the secretariat building to welcome the first American to orbit the earth.

Then he and his family entered a nonstop elevator and soared off to the 38th floor where U.N. acting Secretary-General U Thant awaited the party.

With the Glenns were the other six men in the U.S. astronaut team, their relatives and U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson. Thant invited the group here after learning the astronauts were coming to New York.

Ralph J. Bunche, highest ranking American in the U.N. secretariat, took the group to Thant's office suite. He is undersecretary for special political affairs.

An informal session with delegates on the 28-nation U.N. Committee on the Peaceful Uses of Outer Space—including the Soviet delegate—look place at the Thant reception.

Tokens of affection ranging from a Bible to a trumpet poured in on Glenn as New York City's second day of honoring him got off to an early start.

Glenn, a down-to-earth gentleman except when he is in his space suit, was visibly overwhelmed by the outpouring of an estimated four million New Yorkers greeting him on his first day here.

Tragedy also took the stage on Glenn Day as 95 persons perished when an airliner plunged into Jamaica Bay after takeoff from Idlewild Airport. It was this nation's worst plane crash involving a single commercial aircraft.

After a late afternoon rest and a private dinner, Lt. Col. Glenn and the six other U.S. astronauts and their families attended the Broadway hit show "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying." Other theatergoers cheered and applauded at their entrance.

About 1,000 persons stood in the freezing cold outside the theater to cheer their arrival. A crowd of similar dimensions was on hand when they left.

The actors added a line to the show. In referring to American know-how, the line pointed out, as a prime example, the development of the Friendship 7—the capsule which took Glenn 81,000 miles on his three-orbit journey around the world on Feb. 20. The line drew a wave of applause from the audience.

After the performance the Glenn party went backstage. The astronauts congratulated the actors and actresses, who in turn congratulated the astronauts.

During intermission of the two-act musical, Glenn remained in his third-row center seat.

After the show, it was off to the Waldorf-Astoria hotel's Empire Room where the Glenn party was entertained by singer Dolores Gray.

Later Miss Gray told the Marine officer, "Thank God you're back."

The Glenn family then retired to their 13th-floor Waldorf-Astoria suite.

After Glenn leaves here Saturday for a weekend visit to his hometown of New Concord, Ohio, his schedule calls for his being on the job Monday at Langley Air Force Base in Virginia.

Invalid Perishes in Texarkana Fire

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP)—Mrs. Lora Brown, 53, an invalid, burned to death today in her home. Firemen said clothing fell from a stove onto an open fire, spreading to wallpaper and other objects. Her elderly mother was unable to rescue the victim.

Real Fool in This Story Is Writer

Editors: The following is suggested as a prelude to Boyle's Thursday PMs column.

(The real April fool in the following tale is the author. Hal Boyle, who recently turned 51, has lost another month. He thought today was April first instead of March 1. His excuse: "You can't trust calendars today like you could in the good old days.")

The A.P.

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Amos Toggle, president of the Giant Acme Fiddlywinks Corporation, sat in lonely splendor in his office as he puffed on a big dollar cigar.

"Hector Squiggle to see you, sir," she murmured.

"Who's Hector Squiggle?" demanded Mr. Toggle.

"He's in our research and development department," replied the secretary. "Been with us 19½ years."

"That isn't my fault," grumbled Mr. Toggle. "If he's got a complaint, tell him to take it up with somebody in personnel."

"He doesn't want to complain, sir. He says he just wants to thank you."

"Thank me?" Mr. Toggle looked surprised. He hadn't been thanked personally by an employee since 1941, and now couldn't remember what the occasion had been. But the idea of it happening again intrigued him.

"Show him in," he ordered.

A moment later in stepped a slender, nervous man with thinning hair.

"I just wanted to express my heartfelt appreciation for—Hector Squiggle began obsequiously.

"For what, Squiggle?" said Mr. Toggle gruffly.

"For the merit raise, sir," answered Squiggle, and continued in a grateful gush: "With my daughter ready for college, my mother's recent death, my wife's illness, all on top of an increase of rent. Well, it just couldn't have come at a more welcome time."

"What in thunderation are you gabbling about?" growled Mr. Toggle.

Squiggle handed over a letter.

"You've been doing a fine job, Hector, and I just want to tell you personally I'm upping your salary $7.50 weekly."

The letter appeared to bear Mr. Toggle's own famed illegible executed signature, which resembled the tracks made by a hen trying to escape a weasel in wet snow.

"I never signed that," said Mr. Toggle. Squiggle looked down at the calendar on his boss' desk—April 1.

"Someone must have traced your signature from an announcement on the bulletin board," he said. "We've both been made the victims of a cruel prank. Sorry to have troubled you, sir."

His shoulders sagged forlornly as he turned to go.

"Just a moment, Squiggle," Mr. Toggle said, drumming on his desk. He stabbed an angry finger down on the phone buzzer to his personnel office.

"Jake," he rasped, "I want you to put down Squiggle for a $7.50—no, make it $15—pay boost. No, I didn't say Squiggle, I said Squiggle. Don't you even know who's working for us? The man's been here 19½ years."

Mr. Toggle slammed down the receiver, came around his desk, slapped Hector on his back, and stuck a dollar cigar in his pocket.

"That'll teach the smart alecks in this office they can't play jokes on the old man," he chuckled. "I'll show 'em who's the real fool. Keep up the good work, Squiggle—I mean Squiggle—you're doing a great job."

Hector stopped off and bought a steak and a bottle of champagne after leaving the office at the end of the day. At home as he poured out the champagne he told the story of his adventure to his wife.

"I wonder who in the world could have written that note to Mr. Toggle?" she asked.

"Well, who got the raise?" said Squiggle, grinning.

"Why, Hector?" exclaimed his wife. "I never thought you had it in you!"

She lifted a foaming glass to toast the big victory of her little man.

Red Parliament Meet Delayed

TOKYO (AP)—The meeting of Chinese Communist Parliament scheduled for Monday has been postponed.

Announcing this Saturday, the New China news agency gave no reason but said the postponement was decided upon recently by the Standing Committee of the National People's Congress (Parliament).

The meeting had been scheduled to begin on the same day as a Soviet Communist party session in Moscow. There had been speculation the two meetings might emphasize differences in Moscow and Peking approaches to world affairs.

It was to be the first meeting in two years for the Chinese Parliament.

Her Lover Had Roving Clay

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: I am a woman who gave her heart to a man of many women. This handsome evil genius walked into my life at a spring dance six years ago tonight.

He made me think of John Wayne. He said-I reminded him of Marilyn Monroe. When he literally declared his love on bended knee I all but swooned instead of asking, "Why the dramatics?"

Looking back I can see it was but a dress rehearsal for other loves but, being young, impressionable and romantic, I swallowed his lies for three years and saw in him my ideal of all that was manly and noble. Alas, my god had feet of clay!

Gradually his visits became more and more infrequent though each time he insisted his love had deepened. I wonder now if he knows what love really is and if he has a conscience.

When I first saw him with another girl, he smiled and passed along. It was at a dance similar to the one where we met. She too, looked like Marilyn Monroe but there the similarity to me ended, for she had a husband!

When they divorced, my man was called "love burglar" by the husband's lawyer.

I still love him, despite the tragedy he has made of my life. When I told him that my love couldn't be turned off and on like an electric switch, he shrugged his shoulders, picked up his hat and walked out. Now I meet him with others and sometimes alone but he never speaks. How can he be so cruel?—Lonely.

Dear Lonely: Where is your pride? What that so-called "love burglar" needs is a good kick downstairs. He might still be yours if you had given him one.

Though it seems incomprehensible that you could love such a heel, this grand passion of yours has become an obsession to the point of being love sickness. Treat it as a disease.

The cure is work plus outside activities. Walk, window shop, visit with friends, go to art exhibits, take in a show, develop a hobby—anything to change your thoughts and stimulate your mind. Have a physical check-up. Low blood pressure could be weakening your resistance. A healthy body makes for rational thinking. Once you regain a sense of values, your evil genius will recede into the limbo of such characters.

Dear Helen: I am recently widowed, 50 years old and went only as far as high school in my education. I worked in a wholesale house for 15 years before my marriage.

Now I am employed in a cafeteria at the school where my daughter is a student. I need money to put her through college and am taking a night course in typing at the same school with the idea of becoming a poet. The only talent I possess, beside being a good cook, is writing verse. All the boys and girls in our school ask me to compose special verses for their friends. Is there some way I could use this talent?—Hopeful.

Dear Hopeful: There is little or no need to better to take a course in catering or dietetics and compose poetry for fun. Cooking is one of the fine arts too, a famous Frenchman, Brillat-Savarin, once wrote a book about it called "The Physiology of Taste." Read it!

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine, care of this newspaper. Be sure to enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope. Helpful leaflets available. Write for "Better Home Management."

Man, 3 Sons Perish in Fire

WALDORF, Md. (AP)—A man died late Thursday night in his flaming house as he tried to rescue three of his sons from the blaze. The children also perished.

Chief Bill Cook of the Waldorf Fire Department identified the victims as Edward L. Jones, about 40; and his sons, John, 12; Doug, 5, and Mark, 3 months.

Cook said Jones, a carpenter, attended a meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association at La Plata High School with his wife and two other children, Carol, 16, and Jerry, 14.

They returned to find the two-story frame building in flames. The father and son ran inside the burning building in an attempt to rescue the three younger children.

The son reappeared, but the father did not. The mother and daughter drove to a neighbor's home one-half mile away to call firemen.

Officers said Mrs. Clara Riley Homer Hardy, about 38, told them she shot her husband. She called an ambulance.

Neighbors said they heard disturbances at the house during the night. The windshield and headlights of Hardy's car were shattered.

Hardy was shot in the groin. The couple had been married about four months but divorce proceedings were underway.

Attends Luncheon

LONDON (AP)—Prince Charles the schoolboy heir to Britain's throne, has taken a small step toward joining adult company.

He attended his first palace luncheon party this week given by his mother, Queen Elizabeth II. Charles sat in with his father, Prince Philip, away touring South America.

Blames Men for Women's Role in TV

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Ginger Rogers, after worrying over the problem for several seasons and asking questions, confesses she is stumped. She doesn't know why women have such a hard time in television.

"It seems to me that television is like automobiles," she said. "Designed by men, and mostly for men."

"By next season there probably won't be a single series starring a woman, and as far as I can find out very, very few women behind the scenes have any say about programs."

Miss Rogers admits she doesn't understand this attitude.

Ginger, however, does not find this a personal problem. She is satisfied with occasional TV guest starring appearances, including her hostess chores on tonight's salute to Irving Berlin on NBC's Telephone Hour, hand-picked movie picture roles and some stage appearances.

Tonight Miss Rogers will dance and sing. She's a natural choice as hostess, for she appeared in many Berlin shows over the years.

ABC, whose shows seem to date on way-out titles, has a couple of collectors' items coming up next week on "Ben Casey" and "Naked City." On Monday night Ben's adventures will be wrapped in "For the Ladybug, One Dozen Roses." And on Wednesday, the police drama will work in an episode called "Today the Man Who Kills the Ants Is Coming."

Recommended weekend viewing: Sunday—GE Theatre, CBS, 9:30 p.m.—"Ten Days in the Sun" with Ed Wynn and Andy Devine; "Regards to George M. Cohan," NBC, 10-11—musical special with Peter Lind Hayes and Dorothy Loudon.

ESD Hires Second Negro Worker

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Employment Security Division has hired two Negroes to administer its new minority groups program. They are the first white-collar workers of their race to be employed by the agency.

They are Fred W. Martin of Hot Springs, who will head the new group, and Mrs. Adell Terry Woods of Little Rock, who will be his secretary.

The minority groups program was established at the urging of the federal Bureau of Employment Security. The SD is a state agency, but gets its operating funds from the federal government.

James L. Bland, ESD administrator, said the two were hired through the state Merit System Council. They will have an office in the state Capitol here.

Bland said Arkansas is the last state to set up a minority groups program. It will disseminate information on employment problems to minority group workers.

They will be the only employees in the new section. Martin will make $5,400 a year and Mrs. Woods will be paid $260 a month.

SWC Coaches Are Amazed at Story

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Coaches and officials of the Southwest Conference expressed amazement today at reports of crookedness in league basketball games.

Abb Curtis, supervisor of officials, met with Coaches Bill Men-efee of Baylor, Harold Bradley of Texas and Johnny Frankie of Rice after he heard Gene Roswell, a New York columnist, said "point spreads move like water and most books won't carry" gambling action on Southwest games.

Roswell said officials and not players may have been involved.
"We know of no gambling, point spreads or the involvement of any official in fixing Southwest Conference games," Curtis said. "But we are interested in finding out if such things are occurring."

"My suggestion is that Roswell give his information to the district attorney and that the government punish those who are guilty if anybody is found guilty."

Frankie, Bradley and Menefee said they didn't believe there had been any wrongdoing by officials.

Chapter 24

The tea party was in full swing.
Every invitation had been accepted so promptly that Hilda suspected a good deal of curiosity was involved. Everyone wanted a firsthand glimpse of the heiress, after her second mysterious illness.

The cucumber in this garden,
Hilda thought, was Gertrude Vanderhorn, larger, redder, shinier than ever—and sharper-eyed.

She and some of the other girls had been present when Jenny had suffered her first attack, after the skating party. But Gertrude was the only one who asked about it.
Hilda cut into the shocked silence that followed with the first thing that popped into her head.

"That reminds me, Miss Vanderhorn, someone in your family was ill, I believe, when you were unable to attend the Russell's musicale. I hope all is well now?"

Gertrude's ruddy complexion turned an angry mottled color.
With genuine dismay, Hilda recalled that the Vanderhorn defection had been because of the break between Gertrude and Race.

"Quite, thank you," said Gertrude, turning her back on Hilda.
At that moment, Albert brought in the day's floral offering from Race. All the girls, at once, gathered around Jenny.

"Oh, how pretty . . ."
"Jenny, you have a beauty!"
"Who is it? Oh, tell us, Jenny, please!"

"Look, there's the card."
The spirit of teasing seized them all at once. Despite Jenny's efforts to protect it, and regardless of Hilda's protests, one girl triumphantly snatched the card.

"Horace Nash!" she exclaimed, looking at Jenny with big eyes.
"But, nobody's allowed . . ." she broke off abruptly, with a scarlet face, and returned the card. "I'm sorry," she murmured.

The other girls went to their chairs, with a lively outburst of talk. They were clearly ashamed of themselves and tried not to look at Jenny.

Gertrude Vanderhorn, who had implanted her large posterior on the chair closest to Jenny, had taken no part in the foolery over her card. But, hearing Race's name, her eyes narrowed spitefully, and when the other girls moved away, she leaned to Jenny with a smile that reminded Hilda of a friendly shark.

"I know the man's practically your uncle," she began, in a carrying whisper, "and my mama wouldn't like me to say it . . ."
Hilda cleared her throat and prepared to break in, quick nip

Independent Team in Final Round Tonite

The Spring Hill Independents rebounded their way into the finals of the District Independent Tournament at Prescott last night with a 76-72 win over Henderson.

Terrell Townsend was high for the locals with 21 points, followed by Larry Garner with 16. Mitchell was high for the losers with 16.
The local boys met Delight tonight at 7:45 in the tourney finals for the district championship.

Top Red Called Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal judge has given a man described as the organizational secretary of the U. S. Communist party until Friday to answer a grand jury's questions about party operations.

If the defendant, Philip Bart, 59, of Brooklyn, N. Y., ignores the deadline, Judge Alexander Holzoff said Wednesday, he will be jailed a maximum of six months for contempt.

Bart was released without bond to give his attorney, Joseph For-er, a chance to appeal the ruling.

Bobcats Win Over Camden; In Finals Tonite

By VINCE POSTER

The Hope Bobcats combined teamwork and ability to edge out Camden 71-69 in the semi-finals of the AAA District Tournament at Smackover last night. Tonight at 8 o'clock the Cats meet Smackover in the finals, while Fairview plays Camden in the consolation match. Smackover beat Fairview 69-62 in the other semi-final game.

Since the top three district teams go to the AAA-AA State Tournament next week at Little Rock, the Bobcats and Bucks have already insured themselves of a tournament berth, while Fairview and Camden have to fight it out for the third spot.

Camden took early control of the game, leading Hope 12-2 in the first few minutes. Although the Cats rallied late in the first quarter, the Panthers led 16-14.
Hope's full-court press stumped Camden somewhat in the second quarter and the locals managed to go ahead 33-32 at the half.

Smith and Jordan scored eight each in the third period to aid the Panthers to a 52-49 third quarter lead, but the Bobcats held on.
It was nip and tuck throughout the final period, but with a minute left in the game Hatfield hit two and was fouled on the shot. He made his free throw, putting the Cats on front 3 points. In the last 30 seconds Camden scored another free throw, cutting the margin to two points. Pressing the Cats, the Panthers kept Hope from getting the throw in, and with six seconds on the clock, had the ball out of bounds. Panther Archie Smith tied it up with a jump shot, but T-B Roberts grabbed the ball after the score and hit Earl Ray Murphy with a long pass at mid-court. Murphy drove in and sank the game-winning layup with the final buzzer sounding as the ball dropped through the net giving Hope the game 71-69.

It would be hard to single out and particular Bobcat as winning the game, since they all worked together best of all; their games this year. Earl Ray Murphy was high for Hope with 25 points from 13 field goals, while Danny Hatfield rebounded well besides scoring 14 points. Jeffery Powell also got on the boards as well as taking 11 points and Jackie Russell hit 80% from the field to take in 10 points. Roberts did his part in rebounding and scored 8 points.
David Porterfield played defense along with hitting a key field goal in the final minutes and Mac Mc-Larty is to be commended for his help in the Hope press and against Camden's press.

A nice crowd journeyed to the game from Hope, but more will be needed to aid the Cats in beating the Bucks, who went undefeated in conference play and also are on their home court. If you are proud of the Bobcats, prove it by being in the Smackover gym at 8 tonight and Boost the Bobcats over the Bucks.

"our

is at hand. It is high time men discovered the rule for living which This Old Book offers . . . the Golden Rule. For almost 100 years now, it has shown me the way to live so that my dying may be a simple transition. I trust its Golden Promises and I have seen them come true. But we have real trouble in the world today.

The Book says that nation shall rise against nation; that men would love pleasure rather than God; that they would turn their backs upon His church and would deny His Power. That's the way it is today. My God, let us dust off our Bibles and discover again, or for the first time, that God is the truth and the light, and that we are doomed without Him. Let us say with the Psalmist, "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path."

You In The Church
The Church In You — form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

So They May See == 1 Corinthians 13 == So They May Hear

THOUGH I SPEAK with the tongues of men and of angels, and have not charity, I am become as sounding brass, or a tinkling cymbal.

2. And though I have the gift of prophecy, and understand all mysteries, and all knowledge; and though I have all faith, so that I could remove mountains, and have not charity, I am nothing.

3. And though I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and though I give my body to be burned, and have not charity, it profiteth me nothing.

4. Charity suffereth long, and is kind; charity envieth not; charity vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up,

5. Doth not behave itself unseemly, seeketh not her own, is not easily provoked, thinketh no evil;

6. Rejoiceth not in iniquity, but rejoiceth in the truth;

7. Beareth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things.

CHARITY NEVER FAILETH: but whether there be prophecies, they shall fail; whether there be tongues, they shall cease; whether there be knowledge, it shall vanish away.

9. For we know in part, and we prophesy in part.

10. But when that which is perfect is come, then that which is in part shall be done away.

11. When I was a child, I spake as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child: but when I became a man, I put away childish things.

12. For now we see through a glass, darkly; but then face to face: now I know in part; but then shall I know even as also I am known.

13. And now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity.
